

Two of those companies, as it turned out, ultimately decided not to hire anyone, he said; instead

In addition to demanding credentials beyond what a given position traditionally requires,

